

Simulation Orientation

Simulation Overview:

This simulation is NOT intended to replicate the specific work environment in your organization. Therefore, you may see similarities to, as well as differences from, your actual surroundings. As in the real world, there are no opportunities for you to go backward. You will make choices and then deal with their consequences.

When the blue information icon appears to the left of a choice option, selecting it will provide you with additional, potentially valuable information about that option

Buttons Overview:

Next: This button allows you to move forward. It may be disabled until a choice is selected or other indicated condition is met (such as time).

Previous: This button is available when it is possible to go back to the previous screen, such as when reviewing feedback which may be available at the end of a simulation.

Help: Selecting this button displays this Help feature which provides a description of each button's function.

Text Zoom: This button displays a window with the screen text in a larger font. This feature is useful if you are using this program in groups with multiple users.

Cast: This button opens an overlay that allows you to select and see background information about simulation cast members. Select it again to close.
